SUBJECT INDEX (Vol. 9, 1986)

A backward glance, 9, 61, 90, 159
Abstracts, 36, 80, 155
Acquired immune deficiency syndrome: Is the medical photographer at risk?, 8
Afzal Ansary Gallery Award, 117
Audiovisual methods, teaching, to overseas medical laboratory tutors, 56

Cerebral ventricular endoscopic photography, 62
Clinical records, illustrative—a code of practice, guidance notes and recommendations, 124
Computer graphics in a large photographic department, 95
Confidentiality of illustrative clinical records—a code of practice, guidance notes and recommendations, 124

Database, individually designed, for medical photographic records, 108
Distance learning, postgraduate medical education by, 69
Distribution systems, integrated information: their implication for medical media, 147
Drawings, scientific, care and preservation of, 22

Editorial, 3, 43, 83, 123
Education, postgraduate medical, by distance learning, 69
Electron microscopy and light microscopy: some photographic considerations, 99
Embedding in plastic of early embryonic stages of the chicken for teaching purposes, 17
Equipment and Methods, 28, 115, 157

Holograms, archival permanence of?, 50

Image permanence: the videodisc, a hope for the future, 5
Information, integrated, distribution systems: their implications for medical media, 147

Laservision-disk and computer-assisted medical learning, 15
Learning Materials, 32, 74, 112, 152
Light microscopy and electron microscopy: some photographic considerations, 99

Medical illustration, history of, 44
Medical media, implication for: integrated information distribution systems, 147

New Chair of Medical Illustration, 119

Ophthalmology, stereophotography in—a review Part 1, 135
'Our first year' profilm—EFC, 149

Paediatric photography, 131
Photographer, medical, at risk?: acquired immune deficiency syndrome, 8
Photographic planning for maxillary mandibular osteotomies, 10
Photographic prosthetic eye, 60
Photographic records, medical, individually designed database for, 108
Photography, cerebral ventricular endoscopic, 62
Photography of the corneal epithelium, less well-known methods, 141
Photography, how the founder of, came to be pained by George Stubbs, 12
Photography, paediatric, 131
Pre-press revolution, 84
Preservation and care of scientific drawings, 22
Prosthetic eye, photographic, 60

Reports, 38, 79, 118, 159
Reviews, 40, 80, 120

Schlieren photography, a low-cost method of, 144
Stereophotography in ophthalmology—a review Part 1, 135

Teaching aids at low cost, 105
Teaching purposes, embedding in plastic of early embryonic stages of the chicken for, 17
Television systems, high-definition and videorecording, for the late 1980s: a review, 91

Video-tapes, model, illustrative, analytical and practical considerations of, 65
Videodisc, a hope for the future: image permanence, 5
Videorecording and high-definition television systems for the late 1980s: a review, 91
